Weekly Commentary

All Matrix indicators are expected to manifest within a +/- 1-day window.

Things worked out well this week. The week began with bearish energy spiking on the 20th, a bearish space weather disturbance on Monday and Tuesday, and the Volatility Indicator signaling a move of over 1% on Monday. All indexes dropped over 2% on Monday. Tuesday was harder to predict. Indexes could have retreated further, but after Monday's 2% drop and ongoing tariff discussions, I chose not to forecast another dip.

The Sun sextiled the Moon on Wednesday, suggesting a higher close on Tuesday or Wednesday. Both days closed higher.

On Thursday and Friday, the space weather forecast calmed. We expected a move higher on at least one day, and both days closed higher.

The MVD Indicator started the week bearish, then turned bullish on Wednesday. The market followed suit.

Our SPY Reversal Indicator signaled a reversal on Friday, April 18th. The previous week ended lower, so we anticipated a higher close this week. Monday saw a significant drop, but the rest of the week trended higher, closing above the previous week's level.

The Matrix Summary was adjusted back one day on Wednesday for better alignment. This, combined with a high Confidence Indicator reading, prompted us to buy options for a higher close on Thursday. The market closed higher, and the options yielded an average profit of 101.5%.

The Algo forecast for AAPL, GLD, IWM, QQQ, and TLT performed well. USO was expected to rise but remained flat.
