Weekly Summary

All Matrix indicators are expected to manifest within a +/- 1-day window.

The Bullish/Bearish Indicator was slightly bearish at the beginning of the week, then turned bullish on Wednesday and remained so through Friday.

Aspects suggested a lower close on Tuesday and/or Wednesday, and again on Thursday and/or Friday. Tuesday did close lower, as did Thursday.

The Volatility Indicator stood at 4 on Friday. A move of over +/-1% was expected on either Thursday or Friday, but neither day showed such a move.

As for the Moon's influence during the week, there was only one aspect with the Sun—a Trine (bullish). This indicated watching for a higher close on Monday or Tuesday, but not both days.

The Matrix Heat Map pointed to Tuesday being bearish and Wednesday being slightly bullish. Tuesday closed down, and Wednesday closed up. Thursday and Friday were difficult to call, as both days had strong bullish and strong bearish readings.

The Matrix Summary correctly predicted the close (higher or lower) on 3 days this week. We don't count Monday, so that resulted in 3 out of 4 days forecast correctly.

The Algo forecast has been working out well over the last two weeks, with the exception of Bitcoin.

We had two option trades this week. One had a profit of $460 and the second one had a loss of $400. Looking back, I should not have taken the trade on Friday.
